

As a result of Coronavirus/ Covid19 everything has changed for children and families.

Parents / carers and children are feeling anxious at this very difficult and extraordinary time.

Also it is hard to think of ways to keep them entertained when we all have anxieties about the current situation.

This is a little guide with just some links to websites, activities, books including a book written by an Intensive Care unit nurse. There are downloads which may be useful for parents / carers, practitioners and children. Please can we ask parents / carers and practitioners check that the content is suitable for their children as there is a variety of information here. There is also some information for parents / carers and practitioners
